

The Human Body is a Water Machine

(And Not all Waters are Alike)

Sedona, Arizona, October 18, 2007 – Pick up a bottle of AquaX water. (You may have to look, because the first 100,000 bottles came off the line in just the last week, but soon you will be seeing it in many areas. We will keep you posted.)

The product you hold in your hand, direct from a Sedona, Arizona aquifer, is unique. A patented molecular enhancement has occurred that affects the body in beneficial ways.

All water has its own geometry, motion and pH factor. But much of what we drink has little impact on nourishment and doesn't reach our cells. The applied technology in AquaX nurtures and hydrates our bodies at the cellular level.

Not all waters are alike.

AquaX is an all-natural, great-tasting, high-energy, oxygen-available, micro-structured product. Nothing foreign – no minerals, substances, electromagnetic forces or ionization has been added.

No bells and whistles – just great, 100% natural artesian, high-energy water, enhanced by a patented process that returns it to a pristine taste. Tested and proven in respectable laboratories, AquaX is supported by mainstream scientific principles.

Skeptical? Drink one 24-ounce bottle a day for a week, and see how you feel.

SOURCE: AquaX